Introduction

Problems

01

Gaming is a popular recreational activity but is perceived as an anti-social activity

02

Difficult to find people to play with online and lobbies can be toxic

03

Difficult to find people of similar interests and rank

04

Research has shown there is a "loneliness epidemic" among teenagers*

05

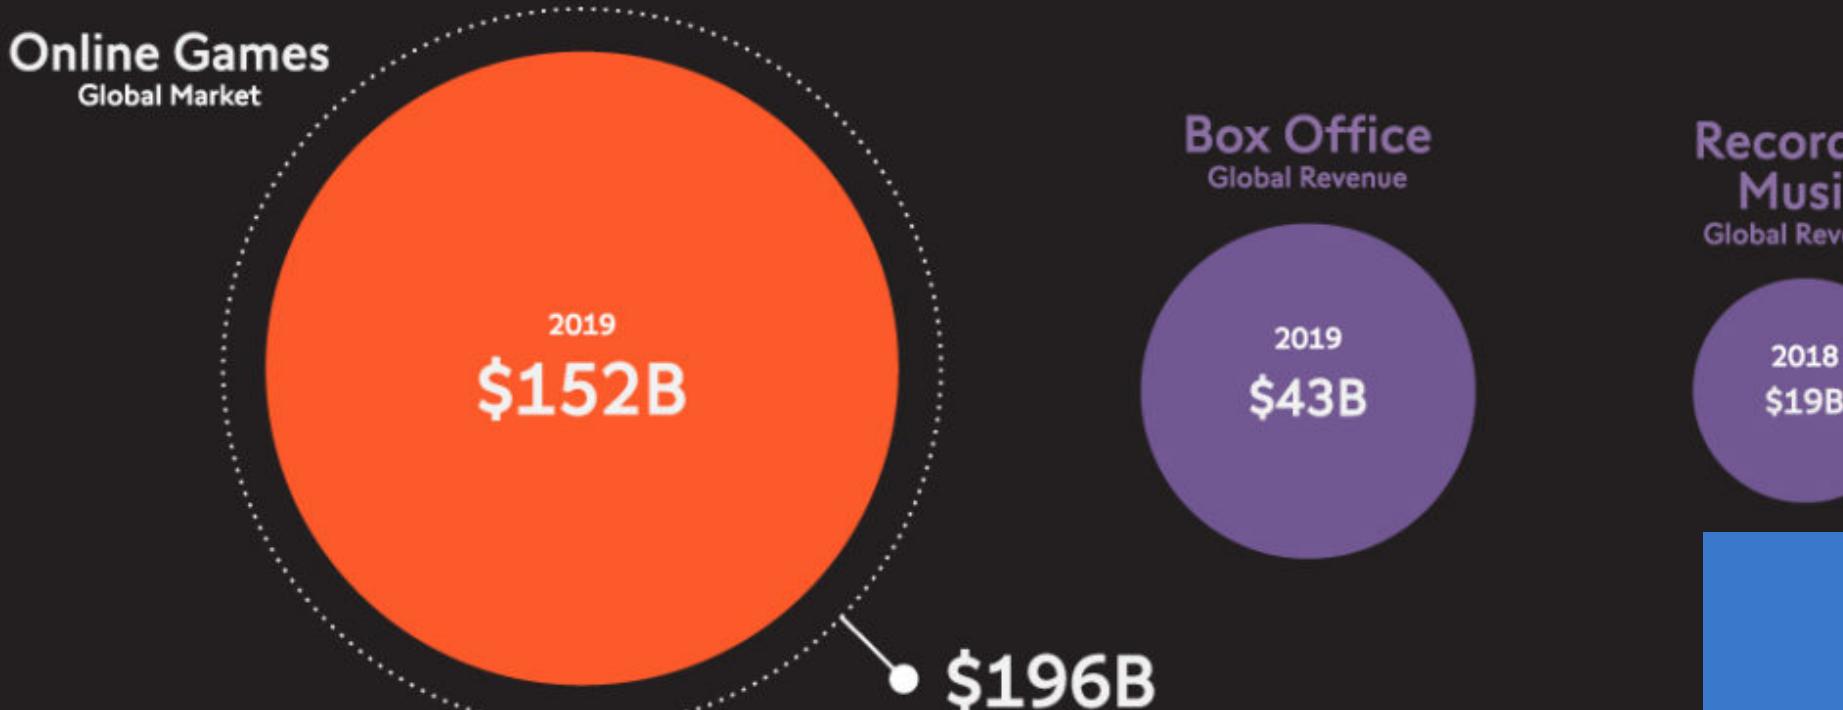

With the onset of COVID-19, many people have had their social lives uprooted

06

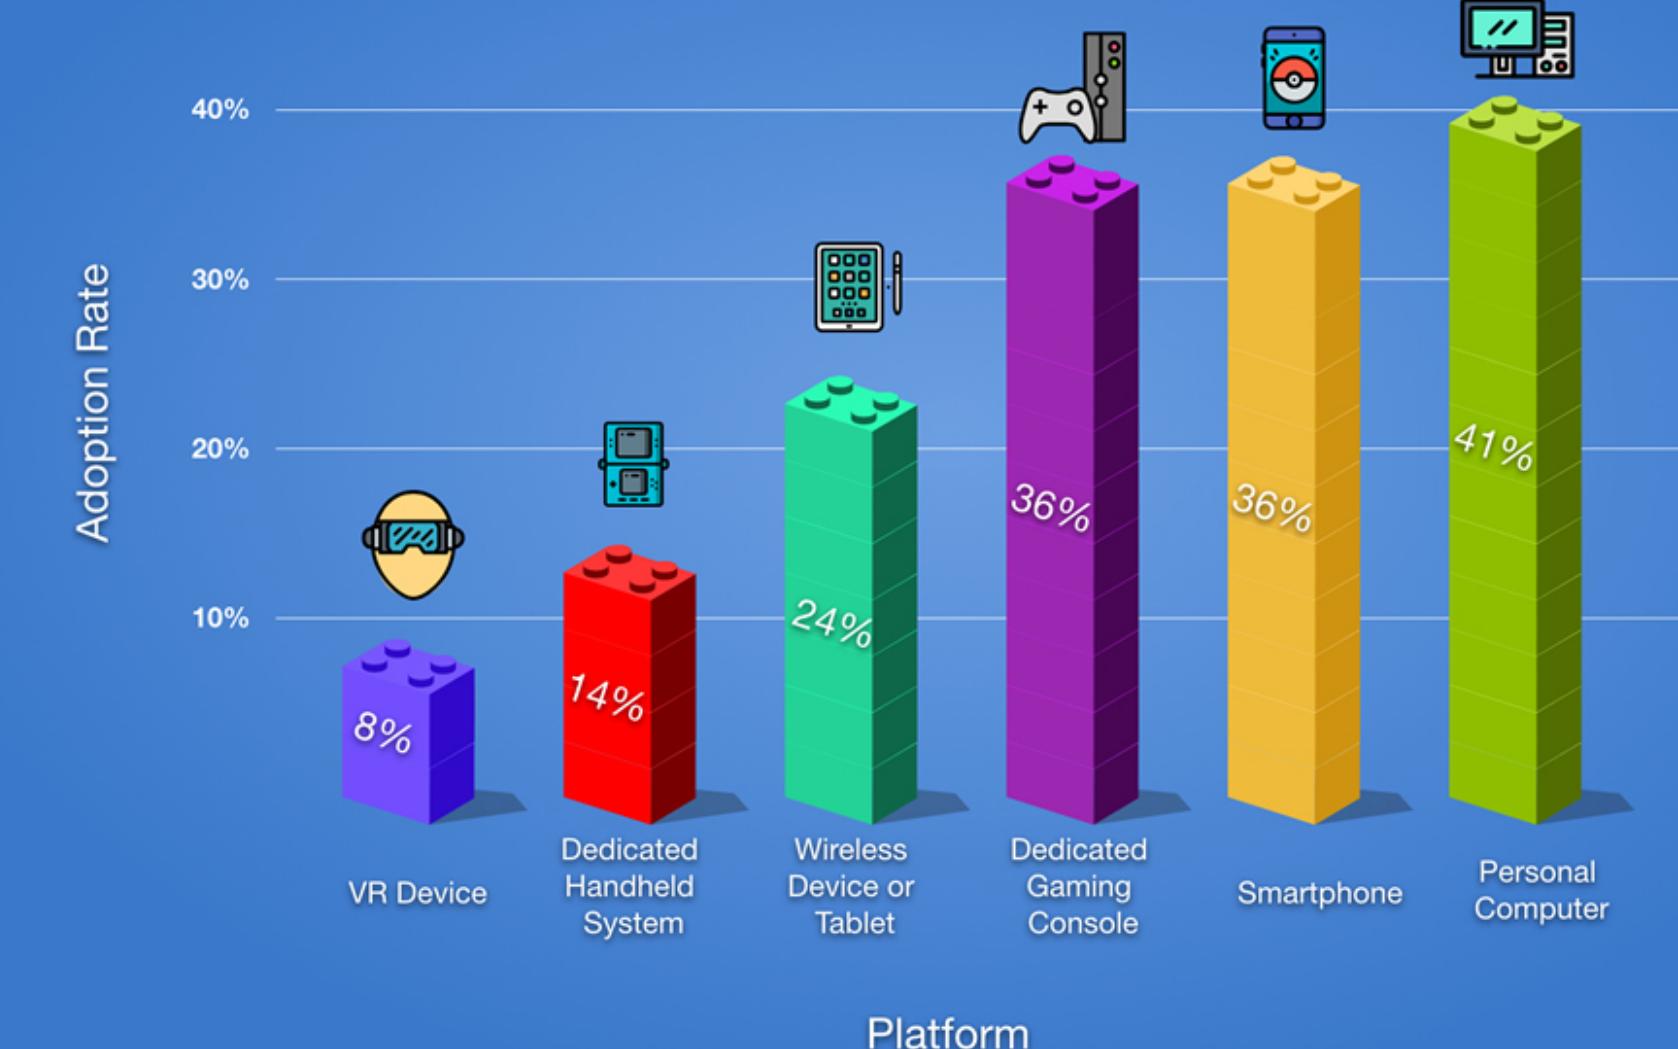

There isn't currently a platform that brings gamers together

The Big Business of ONLINE GAMING

Expected Outcomes

A blurred background image of a person wearing a black and red gaming headset, looking down at a glowing blue and red keyboard. The scene is set in a dark room with colorful neon lights reflecting off the surfaces.

The background image is a blurred photograph of a person's hands on a backlit keyboard, with a gaming headset on. The lighting is dramatic, with red and blue highlights.

01

Provides a means for gamers to socialise

02

Provide a moderated platform to avoid toxicity

03

Users can sort and filter people by games and their respective ranks

04

Decreases the loneliness aspect from gaming

05

Continue to build social relationships, despite being stuck at home due to COVID

06

Provides a platform enabling gamers to get together
